Focal Point...

Many congratulations to our Queen as we come to celebrate her Platinum Jubilee. We thank God for her seventy years of faithful service to her country and people. Quite rightly there will be much celebrating going on over the coming days with street parties, barbeques or people just getting together for a meal, day out or a simple cup of tea/coffee or something stronger, or just a chat. It's good to come together to celebrate, even in times of sadness or difficulty, it reminds us of our common humanity and our need for each other.

Jesus, it seems loved a get together. We read in the bible about him sharing meals with his disciples, attending a wedding, where he performed his first miracle of turning water into wine, which revealed to his disciples who he really was, the son of the living God. The greatest meal Jesus shared with his disciples was the Last Supper the night before he died, which we can now share each time we receive Holy Communion, which will lead us to everlasting life. This is a wonderful course for celebration.

Later this month we also celebrate the coming of the Holy Spirit after the death, resurrection and ascension of Jesus. This same Holy Spirit will always be with us, to comfort, strengthen, guard and guide us, and will lead us into all truth. The gift of the Holy Spirit in our lives comes very quietly and is often thought of as a little mysterious, but if we take the time and space to spend time with God in prayer, the Holy Spirit will surely visit us. What joy that will give us.

However you plan to celebrate the Queen's Platinum Jubilee, I hope you have a most wonderful time. Let's hope the sun will shine!!

I leave you with some words from St. John Ch 14 v6.

Jesus said "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life."

Every blessing to you all, Jan Turner

John 14:6 - Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.

Thought for the Day

There is not a flower that opens, not a seed that falls to the ground, and not an ear of wheat that nods on the end of it's stalk in the wind that does not preach and proclaim the greatness and the mercy of God to the whole world.

The Top 10 Hymn Countdown Continues

No. 6 : I Vow To Thee My Country

"I Vow to Thee, My Country" is a British patriotic hymn, created in 1921, when music by Gustav Holst had a poem by Sir Cecil Spring Rice set to it. The music originated as a wordless melody, which Holst later named "Thaxted", taken from the "Jupiter" movement of Holst's 1917 suite The Planets.

The origin of the hymn's text is a poem by diplomat Sir Cecil Spring Rice, written in 1908 or 1912, entitled "Urbs Dei" ("The City of God") or "The Two Fatherlands". The poem described how a Christian owes his loyalties to both his homeland and the heavenly kingdom.

In 1908, Spring Rice was posted to the British Embassy in Stockholm. In 1912, he was appointed as Ambassador to the United States of America, where he influenced the administration of Woodrow Wilson to abandon neutrality and join Britain in the war against Germany. After the United States entered the war, he was recalled to Britain. Shortly before his departure from the US in January 1918, he re-wrote and renamed "Urbs Dei", significantly altering the first verse to concentrate on the themes of love and sacrifice rather than "the noise of battle" and "the thunder of her guns", creating a more sombre tone in view of the dreadful loss of life suffered in the Great War. The first verse in both versions invoke Britain (in the 1912 version, anthropomorphised as Britannia with sword and shield; in the second version, simply called "my country"); the second verse, the Kingdom of Heaven.

According to Sir Cecil's granddaughter, the rewritten verse of 1918 was never intended to appear alongside the first verse of the original poem but was replacing it; the original first verse is nevertheless sometimes known as the "rarely sung middle verse". The text of the original poem was sent by Spring Rice to William Jennings Bryan in a letter shortly before his death in February 1918. The poem circulated privately for a few years until it was set to music by Holst, to a tune he adapted from his Jupiter to fit the words of the poem. It was performed as a unison song with orchestra in the early 1920s, and it was finally published as a hymn in 1925/6 in the Songs of Praise hymnal (no. 188).

The Tune

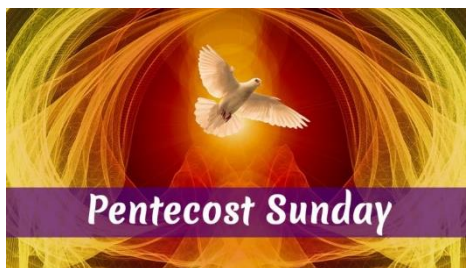

In 1921, Gustav Holst adapted the music from a section of Jupiter from his suite The Planets to create a setting for the poem. The music was extended slightly to fit the final two lines of the first verse. At the request of the publisher Curwen, Holst made a version as a unison song with orchestra (Curwen also published Sir Hubert Parry's unison song with orchestra, "Jerusalem"). This was probably first performed in 1921 and became a common element at Armistice memorial ceremonies, especially after it was published as a hymn in 1926.

In 1926, Holst harmonised the tune to make it usable as a hymn, which was included in the hymnal Songs of Praise. In that version, the lyrics were unchanged, but the tune was then called "Thaxted" (named after the village where Holst lived for many years). The editor of the new (1926) edition of Songs of Praise was Holst's close friend Ralph Vaughan Williams, which may have provided the stimulus for Holst's co-operation in producing the hymn.

Holst's daughter Imogen recorded that, at "the time when he was asked to set these words to music, Holst was so over-worked and over-weary that he felt relieved to discover they 'fitted' the tune from Jupiter".

Pentecost Around the World

Pentecost Sunday is a moveable feast on the Church's calendar: it is celebrated on a different day every year, exactly 50 days after Easter Sunday, and this year falls on Sunday 5th June. Pentecost memorialises the day on which the Holy Spirit descended upon Mary and the Apostles as they were gathered in the Upper Room. It is the final day of the Easter season and is considered, to many, the birthday of the Christian Church.

Beyond the traditional red vestments and liturgical dressings, Pentecost is a time of rich traditions around the world.

Germany

In Germany, picnics are a popular activity on Pentecost. It isn't uncommon to see the doorways of taverns and homes decorated with birch branches and hear the ringing of cowbells both in the countryside and in the city. In some regions, fountains are draped in birch branches and flowers.

On Pentecost Monday, a traditional horseback procession called the Whitsun Ride is held each year in the Bavarian Forest. It is one of the largest horseback pilgrimages in Europe, with over 800 costumed participants on festively decorated horses. The riders are all men, and they gather together to commemorate the journey of a priest over 600 years ago who crossed treacherous terrain to offer a dying man last rites.

Italy

In Italy, Pentecost Sunday is known as “Pascha Rosatum” or “the Feast of Roses.” In churches and cathedrals throughout Italy, rose petals are scattered from the ceiling while the Veni Creator Spiritus is sung at the conclusion of the liturgy. The petals represent the tongues of flames that rested on Mary and the Apostles during the Pentecost.

Poland

Decorating with birch branches and other greenery on Pentecost Sunday is popular in Poland. The decorations go beyond just houses—cattle with wreaths of birch branches wrapped around their horns can also be seen during the holiday. In some churches, a carved dove is lowered into the congregation as part of a tradition known as “the swinging of the Holy Ghost.”

Hungary

The Csíksomlyó pilgrimage is a well-known Hungarian pilgrimage that takes place each year during Pentecost. It is attended by 50,000 to 100,000 pilgrims who travel to Csíksomlyó, Transylvania to pray before a statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary associated with multiple miracles.

Russia

In Russia, Pentecost is known as Trinity Sunday or Troitsa. The feast is heavily associated with Mary and is often considered a women’s holiday. Traditionally, girls wear crowns of flowers and woven birch twigs and attend a special holiday meal featuring fried eggs. Churches are filled with flowers, fresh greens and birch branches, while live birch trees are often decorated in ribbons and flowers.

Service of Thanksgiving for Rev. Peter Roe

On Wednesday 27th April, Megan (my sister) and I went to Garstang, Preston to the Service of Thanksgiving for the life of Rev. Peter Roe, who was vicar at St. Mary's from 1973 until 1990. The service was led by Rev. Mark Jackson, who Peter mentored here at St. Mary's too. What a joy it was to meet friends from the past, including Duncan Jowett who was organist here some years ago, and Rita who helped with the Girl Guides. Jo, Fran and their families made us so welcome.

Juanita's Puzzle Corner

It is said that working on puzzles is good for the brain so we hope you find our puzzle corner stimulating.

In last month's puzzle, the aim was to identify some towns and cities in the UK which had some letters missing from their names. The answers were:

1) Braemar, 2) Bramley, 3) Boughton or Brighton, 4) Billericay, 5) Biggleswade, 6) Bradford (There may be other answers that fit the puzzle, so if you found one, it's right too 😊)

In this month's puzzle you are asked to use the numbers from 1 - 6 to complete the grid below, so that each 3 x 2 block, and each row and column only contains one of each number. If this proves difficult, remember you only have till the end of the month to sort it out!

5			3		1
1		3			2

Happy puzzling, and best wishes

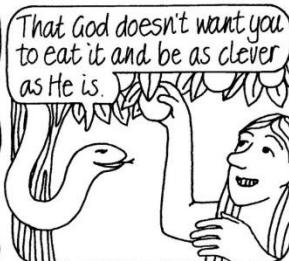

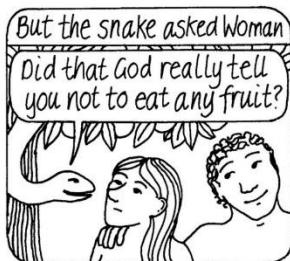

Every Blessing, Juanita
